

DIANA DAMRON

Civility & Communication Strategist

TRUST is the most critical component of every relationship in business and in life. Organizations struggle and people suffer because the TRUST has been destroyed.

Diana Damron is adamant about changing that! In fact, she works to build trust with your audience from the moment she steps on stage.

The former television news anchor and co-host of magazine shows spent years interviewing thousands of people and connecting with them by earning their trust. Her experiences in both healthy and toxic environments forced her to discover strategies to survive and thrive. Today, Diana brings those solutions to your audience.

Fearless, engaging, and fun, Diana inspires participants to dive deeply, re-think their own beliefs, and commit to a culture that transforms lives.

Diana's work began when she found herself a target in a toxic workplace. Once out of that poisonous culture, she learned that toxic environments are rampant. She began researching the causes and effects of ugly behavior in the workplace. Diana coupled her findings with her experience as a communication expert, and developed a unique, powerful, and successful strategy to help organizations eradicate their own plagues of drama and bad behavior.

As a turn-around expert, Diana shows why it's important to UNLEASH the behavior and communication that inspire TRUST.

“...trust is in crisis around the world.” 2017 Edelman Trust Barometer

Audiences will walk away knowing HOW:

People lose TRUST in you and your organization and why

Leaders must unleash TRUST and why

Trust builds momentum in the workplace by stimulating engagement, productivity, and profit

While Diana is warm and humorous, she challenges audiences to push and pull themselves into an entirely new way of thinking.
